Why does St Columba's collect the personal information of students and parents?

In relation to personal information of students and parents/guardians, St Columba's College's primary purpose of collection is to enable St Columba's College to provide schooling for students enrolled at the College, exercise its duty of care, and perform necessary associated administrative activities, which will enable students to take part in all College activities. This includes satisfying the needs of parents/guardians, the student and St Columba's College throughout the whole period that the student is enrolled at St Columba's College.

What if the information is not provided?

In some cases where St Columba's College requests personal information about a student, or parent/guardian, and the information requested is not provided, St Columba's College may not be able to enrol or continue the enrolment of the student or permit the student to take part in a particular activity.

How is personal information provided to St Columba's College?

In general, personal information will be collected about an individual by way of forms filled out by parents/guardians or students, face-to-face meetings and interviews, emails and telephone calls.

In some circumstances St Columba's College may be provided with personal information about an individual from a third party, for example a report provided by a medical professional or a reference from another school.

USE AND DISCLOSURE OF PERSONAL INFORMATION

St Columba's College will use and disclose personal information it collects for:

- the primary purpose of collection as described in this Privacy Policy;
- for other secondary purposes that are related to the primary purpose of collection and which are reasonably expected by the individual concerned or their parents/guardians;
- for other purposes allowed under the Australian Privacy Principles or Health Privacy Principles (for example if required or authorised by law, or in an emergency); or
- for purposes to which the individual concerned or their parents/guardians have consented.

The purposes for which St Columba's College uses and discloses personal information of students and parents/guardians include:

- to keep parents/guardians informed about matters related to their child's schooling, through hard-copy and electronic correspondence, newsletters and magazines;
- day-to-day administration of St Columba's College;
- looking after students' educational, social and medical wellbeing;

- anyone authorised by the individual or their parents/guardians to disclose information to; and
- anyone to whom we are required to disclose the information to by law.

Sending and storing information overseas

St Columba's College may disclose personal information about an individual to overseas recipients, for instance, to facilitate a school exchange. However, St Columba's College will not send personal information about an individual outside Australia without:

- obtaining the consent of the individual (in some cases this consent will be implied); or
- otherwise complying with the Australian Privacy Principles or other applicable privacy legislation.

The College may use online or 'cloud' service providers to store personal information and to provide services to the school that involve the use of personal information, such as services relating to email, instant messaging and education and assessment applications. Some limited personal information may also be provided to these service providers to enable them to authenticate users that access their services. This personal information may be stored in the 'cloud' which means that it may reside on a cloud service provider's servers which may be situated outside Australia.

An example of such a cloud service provider is Google. Google provides the 'Google Apps for Education' (GAFE) including Gmail, and stores and processes limited personal information for this purpose. College personnel and its service providers may have the ability to access, monitor, use or disclose emails, communications (e.g. instant messaging), documents and associated administrative data for the purposes of administering GAFE and ensuring its proper use.

How does St Columba's College treat sensitive information?

“Sensitive information” means information relating to a person's racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religion, trade union or other professional or trade association membership, philosophical beliefs, sexual orientation or practices or criminal record, that is also personal information; and includes health information and biometric information about an individual.

St Columba's College will use and disclose sensitive information it collects for:

- the primary purpose of collection; or
- other purposes allowed under the Australian Privacy Principles (for example if required or authorised by law, or in an emergency); or
- for purposes to which the individual concerned or their parents or legal guardians have consented.

Job Applicants, Staff Members & Contractors

In relation to personal information of job applicants, staff members and contractors, St Columba's College's primary purpose of collection is to assess and (if successful) to engage the applicant, staff member or contractor, as the case may be.

The purposes for which St Columba's College uses and discloses personal information of job applicants, staff members and contractors include:

- in administering the individual's employment or contract;
- for insurance purposes;
- seeking donations and marketing for St Columba's College; and
- to satisfy St Columba's College's legal obligations, for example, in relation to child protection legislation.

Volunteers

St Columba's College also obtains personal information about volunteers who assist St Columba's College in its functions or conduct associated activities, such as alumni associations, to enable St Columba's College and the volunteers to work together.

Volunteers' personal information may be used and disclosed for these functions and activities.

Marketing & Fundraising

St Columba's College treats marketing and seeking donations for the future growth and development of St Columba's College as an important part of ensuring that St Columba's College continues to provide a quality learning environment in which both students and staff thrive. Personal information held by St Columba's College may be disclosed to organisations that assist in St Columba's College's fundraising, for example, St Columba's College's Alumni or Parents' Association, both of which are constituted bodies of the College Board.

Parents/guardians, staff, contractors and other members of the wider St Columba's College community may from time to time receive fundraising information. St Columba's College publications, like newsletters and magazines, which include personal information, may be used for marketing purposes.

St Columba's College will not disclose personal information to an external third party for fundraising.

Management & Security of Personal Information

St Columba's College's staff are required to respect the confidentiality of students' and parents'/guardians' personal information and the privacy of individuals.

Personal information is managed under the College's Records Acquisition and Disposal Policy. Access to personal information is limited to authorised College staff and contractors. Personal information is securely destroyed when no longer required for any purpose and only where it is not required to be retained under law.

St Columba's College has in place steps to protect the personal information that St Columba's College holds from misuse, interference and loss, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. These steps include the use of various methods including locked storage of paper records and password access rights to computerised records.

Access, Correction of, and Consent to The Use of, Personal Information

Under the Privacy Act and the Health Records Act, an individual has the right to obtain access to any personal information which St Columba's College holds about them and to advise St Columba's College of any perceived inaccuracy. Students will generally be able to access and update their personal information through their parents/guardians, but students in Years 10 - 12 may seek access and correction themselves. There are some exceptions to these rights set out in the applicable legislation.

As mentioned above, parents/guardians may seek access to personal information held by the College about them or their child. However, there will be occasions when access is denied. Such occasions would include where release of the information would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of others, or where the release may result in a breach of the College's duty of care to the student.

Requests for consent and notices

The College respects every parent/guardian's right to make decisions concerning their child's education.

Generally, the College will refer any requests for consent and notices in relation to the personal information of a student to the student's parents/guardians. The College will treat consent given by parents/guardians as consent given on behalf of the student, and notice to parents/guardians will act as notice given to the student.

St Columba's College may, at its discretion, on the request of a student grant that student access to information held by St Columba's College about them, or allow a student to give or withhold consent to the use of their personal information, independently of their parents/guardians. This would normally be done only when the maturity of the student and/or the student's personal circumstances so warranted

How to make a request to access or correct personal information

To make a request to access or update any personal information St Columba's College holds about a parent/guardian or their child, the parent/guardian needs to contact St Columba's College Principal in writing. St Columba's College may require verification of identity and the specifics of what information is required or is inaccurate. St Columba's College may charge a fee to cover the cost of verifying the application and locating, retrieving, reviewing and copying any material requested. If the information sought is extensive, St Columba's College will advise the likely cost in advance.

There may be occasions when access is denied. Such occasions would include where release of the information would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of others, or where the release may result in a breach of St Columba's College's duty of care to the student. If we cannot provide the parent/guardian with access to that information, the reasons for refusal will be provided in writing and, include advice on how that decision can be reviewed.

Enquiries & Complaints

For further information about the way St Columba's College manages the personal information it holds please contact the College Principal. Complaints about perceived breaches of the Australian Privacy Principles or Health Privacy Principles should also be made to the Principal. St Columba's College will investigate any complaint and will notify the complainant about the complaint as soon as is practicable.
